About the Founder & Owner, Mr. Saravanan a/I Subramaniam: Paving the Way for Indian Fine Dining

This is the story of a Malaysian visionary hailing from a small village in Batu Gajah. He completed his secondary education before pursuing his Diploma in Computer Engineering. Despite having a diploma in hand, he found it difficult to find a well-paying job due to the national economic crisis at the time. Instead of feeling defeated, Mr. Sara began working for his uncle by selling vegetables. Day by day, Mr. Sara worked tirelessly to send vegetables to almost 120 different restaurants and shops daily!

Eventually his hard work paid off, and after two years Mr. Sara received the opportunity to sell his wares at a newly opened wet market in Selangor. The next 18 years were filled with both joys and heartaches as Mr. Sara dutifully grew his business to fruition only to be diagnosed with throat cancer. With nobody to help him run his business he had to sadly take a step back from it to focus on his health.

Once his cancer was in remission and with 5 kids to feed, Mr. Sara opened a small mini market in Cyberjaya. But he never lost that spark he had for the world of food and beverage. When presented with the opportunity to take over a failing restaurant, Mr. Sara jumped at the opportunity, with his strong passion for the restaurant industry spurring him on.

This was the birthplace of the first India Gate. After completely revamping the restaurant, Mr. Sara noticed that his new menu was a big hit amongst customers and 2 years later, he decided to expand his restaurant business to Puchong. Once again, Mr. Sara relied on prior experience to pull off a complete revamp of the Puchong outlet, including the atmosphere and ambience.

Despite these successes, Mr. Sara has no plans of stopping and hopes to expand the restaurant to reach 50 outlets nationwide, and with more overseas. He continues to strive to create something new, and never before seen in the business world, to prove that Indian fine dining restaurants have a well-deserved seat at the table.

Of all the businesses Mr. Sara has run for close to a decade, he still looks back on India Gate as his happiest and most fruitful venture yet. He also has his sights set on branching into the of cafes and bars in the near future. He aims to bring to the table, a novel menu offering Indian-Italian food suited to Malaysian taste buds. In the meantime, he remains content with success achieved with India Gate and continues to run one of the Malaysia's best Indian fine dining restaurants. Don't just take our word for it, head to your local India Gate outlet to experience the magic for yourself.

Delicious and Delectable

India Gate is a contemporary multi-cuisine family restaurant is your gateway to the legacy of India's rich food culture. We serve a variety of delicious pan-Indian cuisine including our flagship Mughlai cuisine.

The famous Mughlai cuisine evolved in medieval India during the Mughal Empire. The cuisine portrays a mix of culinary styles and recipes from North India and Central Asia, and is highly influenced by the cuisines of Central Asia that has a rich history of the rule of the Turco-Mongol Mughal empires. The Mughlai cuisine is generally quite spicy, rich, and heavily marked with a very unique aroma. It has over time remained one of the most popular and favorite cuisines among foodies across India. Some of its signature dishes include Biryani, Mughlai Paratha, Murg Musaliam, Kababs, Malai Kofta and Rezala that are bound to entice the gastronomic enthusiasts to crave for more.

Interestingly, the Kings and Royalty of the Mughal Empire had a thing for food too. The cookbooks of the Mughal emperors Akhbar, Shahjahan and Aurangzeb give us an idea of the history of Mughlai cuisine. Apart from royal food, you also get to look into their kitchen! For instance, during the reign of Akhbar there was a Minister for the Kitchen! He had his own budget, an independent accounts department and ran an army of cooks, tasters, attendants, bearers, and other sundry designations. It is true - there was a time when people really lived to eat!

We, at India Gate, live to keep this legacy alive!

Where The Magic Happens

Within the restaurant industry, we are always changing and evolving to keep up with our customers adventurous palates. With all ingredients prepared in the same location, our central kitchens offer consistency in food taste and quality. The kitchens provide a stable environment where recipes can be easily replicated with the same equipment by the same staff. Consistency is key when cooking scrumptious, authentic dishes or creating signature flavors that is recognized no matter where it's served. Furthermore, the central kitchens boast several benefits aside from maintaining consistency in taste and quality. Alongside helping the business grow fruitfully and boosting efficiency to its peak, the beauty of the central kitchen is that it also gives India Gate a signature brand name and style that can only be found at the restaurant.
